Nut Allergies

Dear Mums, Dads & Carers,

At The Mill, we have a number of children and members of staff with severe and potentially life threatening nut allergies which may result in anaphylaxis, a dangerous allergic reaction that requires immediate medical attention.

These allergies can be triggered through the ingestion of nuts and also through nuts being present in the environment of the school. Members of our school community have airborne nut allergies and nut allergies that may be caused by touching contaminated surfaces or equipment.

We all share the responsibility to keep each other safe and would like to politely remind you that you must not send any types of nuts or any products containing nuts to school with your child, this also includes most chocolate spreads.

Thank you for your continued support.

Yours sincerely,
